

Method for the anionic polymerization of oxirans

Abstract

- 5 The invention relates to a process for preparation of homopolymers composed of oxiranes, or of copolymers composed of oxirans and comonomers, via anionic polymerization, which comprises carrying out a polymerization in the presence of a quaternary ammonium and/or phosphonium compound and of a mononuclear organylaluminum compound.